INTRODUCTION

The DC Oral History Collaborative is an ambitious city-wide initiative to document and preserve the history of Washington's residents and communities through the collection of oral histories. The project will survey and publicize existing oral history collections, provide grants and training for scholars and amateur historians to launch new oral history projects, and establish an interactive, accessible platform where the city's memories can benefit residents and scholars for generations to come.

Origins of the DC Oral History Collaborative

In 2016 D.C. Councilmember David Grosso expressed an interest in helping the citizens of Washington, D.C. gain access to hundreds of oral histories that illuminate our shared history but are difficult to find. In addition, having seen initiatives underway in other cities, the councilmember wanted to encourage the collection of new oral histories from elders and others whose stories need to be told and recorded for future generations.

Consequently the DC Public Library created the DC Oral History Collaborative to:

- Identify archives, museums, libraries, and organizations that hold oral history collections relevant to the city and its residents
- Survey these repositories to identify appropriate oral histories, collect metadata on their contents, and assess their accessibility and state of preservation.
- Support the development of new oral histories by developing materials to train volunteers in best practices in the field of oral history
- Convene community meetings designed to inspire new oral history interviewing and to identify likely interview subjects
- Engage in volunteer training and support the development of a volunteer corps, and
- Make available grant funds to support new and ongoing oral history programs.

The DC Oral History Collaborative program is executed by HumanitiesDC and the Historical Society of Washington, D.C. as contractors.

Scope and Purpose of the Collections Survey

In the initial year of the project, the DCOHC Collections Survey has generated an easy-to-use finding guide that documents the locations, metadata, and state of preservation for 30 D.C. repositories. The author of this finding guide looked into repositories, cultural institutions, and other organizations currently holding relevant oral history recordings in order to discover the range of existing materials. The results have been compiled and standardized in this finding guide for the public.

In many cases this finding guide is the first publicly available information on invaluable recordings held by dozens of city institutions. By including content information, the survey is also designed to bring to light gaps in the record of D.C. lives so that oral historians can build upon (rather than duplicate) existing interviews. Please note: histories of federal agencies or events that are strictly national in nature are not included in this survey, but oral histories that feature Washingtonians employed by the federal government are included.

The FY2017 survey and FY2018 survey yielded a total of over 5,000 items recorded from 1938 to 2018. The individual interviews touch on dozens of city locations:

14th Street NW	D.C. Armory	Morningside Heights
16th Street Heights	D.C. Courts/Judiciary Square	Mount Pleasant
17th Street NW	Deanwood	National Mall
Adams Morgan	Downtown D.C.	Naval Observatory
alley dwellings	Dupont Circle	North Portal Estates
Anacostia	Eastern Market	Northeast D.C.
Armed Forces Retirement Home	Federal Center SW	Northwest D.C.
Barracks Row	Federal City	Old Post Office
Barry Farms	Foggy Bottom	Pentagon
Bloomingdale	Fort Hunt	Reno City
Brightwood	Friendship Heights	Rock Creek Park
Brookland	Georgetown	Rockville
C&O Canal	Georgia Avenue NW	Rosemary Hills

business	historic neighborhoods	religion
children	labor	sports
Civil Rights movement	language	wars
civil unrest	LGBTQ	women
education	minorities	writing
federal government	museums

METHODOLOGY

DCOHC identified repositories for this first phase through consultation with community and DCOHC staff with the goal of a varied result in terms of content as well as repository size, location, and type. Thus “repository” includes everything from a formal archive housing numerous oral history collections (such as the Historical Society of Washington, D.C.) to smaller organizations or individuals with only one oral history collection (such as Asbury United Methodist Church).

Initial information on repository holdings and contacts came from public and online sources. Archival data was collected and uniformly organized in individual spreadsheets (see Appendix TK) according to standardized categories.

Some repositories populated the spreadsheet directly while others made their records available to the surveyor to input. All of the spreadsheets were titled with the acronym for the repository’s name followed by DCOHC and Collections Survey. For example, the American Folklife Center, Library of Congress (AFC-LOC) spreadsheet’s title is “AFC-LOC_DCOHC_CollectionsSurvey.xlsx.”

When individual interviews were described, those are recorded as individual listings. Otherwise each collection is listed as an entry. Many repositories were at various stages in accepting, processing, and cataloging collections; those that merit follow-up are noted.

Following are the categories used with notes on information captured:

Repository: the institution, organization, or individual housing and caring for the oral history collection(s).

Creator Name: the person or organization that created the oral history collection, often but not always the repository.

Collection ID: the repository’s catalog identification.

Other Number: other catalog identifier used by the repository.

Collection Creation Year: the year when the materials were deposited into that repository or when the creator began the collection.

Collection Title: the repository’s collection name.

Format-Audio: the format(s) in which the audio recording exists (i.e. reel-to-reel tape, cassette tape, CD, digital file, etc.).

Format-Transcripts: yes or no answer to whether a transcript exists.

Accessible Online: list of interview components available online, from data record to actual recording and/or transcript

Good to Know: other useful information particular to that interview or collection (i.e. the oral history is a group interview, the recording is difficult to understand and therefore the transcript is partial, etc.).

Restrictions on Access: notations about how or when the interview is available to the public beyond the repository’s normal operation, including restrictions from the interviewees.

Repository of Record: yes or no answer to question of whether repository houses the original interview.

Holdings Duplicated at Other Repositories: names of other repositories holding copies.

Narrator Names: the person or people interviewed.

Narrator Affiliations: past and current employment or community ties that give context.

Interviewer Name(s): the person or people conducting the interview.

OH Creation Year(s): year interview was conducted.

Release Forms: yes or no on existence of interviewer release and, when available, details on its location.

DC Area Focused On: neighborhood(s) discussed.

Topics: key terms on subjects discussed

An entry of “not listed” appears in the category column for any information not available from the repository. Repositories that declined to respond to requests for this report are listed in this report to encourage contact for future surveys.

SUMMARY OF FINDINGS AT EACH REPOSITORY

1. American Folklife Center, Library of Congress

- Survey yielded 44 items, both entire collections and individual interviews. There are collections that need further review in Phase II of the survey to determine relevance to D.C.
- Topics include: African American, art, baseball, business, education, federal government, games, historic neighborhoods, immigration, international, museum, music, Pearl Harbor, religion, Vietnam War, Washington Senators, World War II, women, writing.
- D.C. Neighborhoods: Brightwood, Capitol Hill, National Mall, Shaw.
- Years when interviews were conducted: 1938-2017.
- Accessibility: All items are available to the public on site.
- Survey completed: May 1, 2017

2. American University Archives

- Survey found 44 oral histories. Some are AU School of Public Affairs Oral History Project, and some are AU Oral History Project.
- Topics include: 1968 Washington Ritos, Life in 1950's Washington, DC, 1960 Democratic Convention, Integration of Washington Redskins, Women Strike for Peace.
- D.C. Neighborhoods: N/A
- Years when interviews were conducted: N/A
- Accessibility: Interviews are available on site only.
- Survey completed: April 30, 2018

3. Anacostia Unmapped

- Survey of this ongoing project yielded 19 oral histories, most of which are interviews for radio broadcast. There are more interviews beyond those publicized online, but they are not yet available to the public.
- Topics include: activism, African American, children, discrimination, development, education, gentrification, historic neighborhoods, home rule, housing, law enforcement, migration, music, Native American, women.
- D.C. Neighborhoods: Anacostia, Barry Farms, Southeast, Takoma Park.
- Years when interviews were conducted: 2016.
- Accessibility: Curated audio clips for all interviews are available to the public online. Researchers may use website contact information for access to more.
- Survey completed: June 8, 2017

4. Anacostia Community Museum

- 55 interviews listed at Smithsonian Archives and held by Anacostia Community Museum Archives from 1970-1975. Samir Meghelli is also working on a catalogue of their current oral history collection and will send it when it's finished.

- Topics include: individuals who grew up in the neighborhood, education, occupations, transportation, geographic boundaries, and recreational and community activities.
- D.C. Neighborhoods: Anacostia, Barry Farms, Southeast, Takoma Park.
- Years when interviews were conducted: 1970-1975.
- Accessibility: Curated audio clips for all interviews are available to the public online. Researchers may use website contact information for access to more.
- Survey completed: March 1, 2018.

5. AG Bell

- Currently working on oral history collection with several oral histories. They were unable to provide an inventory list before deadline.
- Topics include: Listening and spoken language, families and children who are hard of hearing in DC.

6. Archives Center, National Museum of American History

- Survey yielded 39 items, both entire collections and individual interviews. There are collections that need further review in Phase II of the survey to determine relevance to D.C.
- Topics include: business, music, women, medicine, transportation, and historic neighborhoods.
- D.C. Neighborhoods: Foggy Bottom, Naval Observatory, Northeast, Shaw.
- Years when interviews were conducted: 1950-2014.
- Accessibility: Some interviews have more information available about them online than others, but there are no transcripts available online. All items are available to the public on site.
- Survey completed: April 13, 2017

7. Archives of American Art, Smithsonian

- Survey yielded 71 oral histories.
- Topics include: D.C., African American, alley dwellings, arts administrators, art centers, art critics, art historians, artists' models, art museums, art teachers, art students, art schools, collectors, collecting, composers, curators, federal government, film makers, muralists, museum directors, painters, patrons, potters, prints, printmakers, sculptors, 20th century, women.
- Neighborhoods: Cathedral Heights, Dupont Circle, Georgetown, National Mall, Spring Valley.
- Years when interviews were were conducted: 1963-2015.
- Accessibility: The majority have transcripts accessible online. A portion also have clips from the audio recordings available online. Except for a few restricted oral histories, researchers can access the materials for all of these interviews on site.
- Survey completed: February 10, 2017

8. Asbury United Methodist Church

- Survey yielded 19 oral histories, only one of which is available to the public. Phase II of the survey should check to determine if more interviews are available.
- Topics include: church and neighborhood history.
- D.C. Neighborhoods: Downtown DC.
- Years when interviews were conducted: unknown.
- Accessibility: At this time, collection is for Asbury United Methodist Church use only, but the archive is exploring ways to make it open to the public.
- Survey completed: May 1, 2017

9. Catholic University of America

- Survey yielded eight items, both entire collections and individual interviews. There are collections that merit further review in Phase II of the survey to determine relevance to D.C. The university also imposes a 50-year protective restriction period on material about the institution's history and operations, so new materials potentially become available each year.
- Topics include: education, federal government, labor, religion.
- D.C. Neighborhoods: Northeast DC.
- Years when interviews were conducted: 1968-1994.
- Accessibility: All interviews have online catalog records, and most have online finding aids. No materials are available online, but all are available on site.
- Survey completed: August 31, 2017

10. Center for Folklife and Cultural Heritage, Smithsonian Institution

- Survey yielded 1,123 oral histories. The vast majority were recorded during the annual Smithsonian Folklife Festival and therefore are story-telling recordings, not traditional oral histories. The repository is reviewing its recordings to ascertain which are actual oral histories; the data here includes both types of recordings.
- Topics include: African American, architecture, art, Asian Americans, baseball, business, children, cultural tradition, dance, dress, education, federal government, firefighting, food, games, hair, hawking, immigration, international, Latino, migration, museum, music, Native Americans, oral history, quilting, religion, sculpture, transportation, White House, women.
- D.C. Neighborhoods: Brightwood, Capitol Hill, National Mall, Shaw; Bethesda.
- Years when interviews were conducted: 1967-2011.
- Accessibility: Only the finding aid is available online. Interviews are accessible to the public on site; majority do not have transcripts. Many materials are stored off site requiring a pre-scheduled research appointment for access.
- Survey completed: August 8, 2017

11. Citizens Association of Georgetown

- Survey yielded 60 oral histories in this community project carried out by Georgetown residents seeking to document neighborhood history.
- Topics include: African American, architecture, art, business, children, Civil Rights movement, civil unrest, development, education, federal government, food, historic neighborhoods, international, journalism, law, libraries, museum, preservation, protest, real estate, Redskins, religion, riots, transportation, World War II, women.
- D.C. Neighborhoods: Georgetown.
- Years when interviews were conducted: 2009-2016.
- Accessibility: All interviews have summaries, transcripts, and photographs accessible online. There are no restrictions.
- Survey completed: May 8, 2017

12. DC Digital Museum, Humanities Council of Washington, DC

- Survey yielded 218 items: entire collections and individual interviews. There are collections that merit further review in Phase II of the survey to determine relevance to D.C. Some collections consist of transcripts only with no corresponding audio or video recordings. Others are final projects, such as documentary videos, that sample oral histories but do not include the original interviews.
- Topics include: activism, African American, Bonus Army, business, children, Civil Rights movement, civil unrest, dance, education, federal government, film, food, gardening, Great Depression, historical neighborhoods, immigration, Korean War, Latino, LGBTQ, protest, religion, riots, Vietnam War, World War I, World War II, women.
- D.C. Neighborhoods: 14th Street NW, Anacostia, Armed Forces Retirement Home, Barracks Row, Barry Farm, Bloomingdale, Brightwood, Brookland, Capitol Hill, Cardozo, Cleveland Park, Crestwood, Colonial Village, Columbia Heights, Deanwood, Dupont Circle, Friendship Heights, Hillcrest, Foggy Bottom, Ivy City, Morningside Heights, Mount Pleasant, North Portal Estates, Northeast, Northwest, Rock Creek Park, Shaw, Shepherd Park, Truxton Circle, West End; Takoma Park.
- Years when interviews were conducted: 2003-2015.
- Accessibility: Catalog records and summaries for all of the interviews are available online. Many of the oral histories also have audio or video recordings available on the repository's website. All other materials, including transcripts, are available to the public on site with some possible restrictions noted in legal releases.
- Survey completed: July 25, 2017

13. DC Office of Planning, Historic Preservation Office

- Survey yielded 55 oral histories, some of which are duplicated in the holdings of the DC Public Library; the Historical Society of Washington, D.C.; and the Jewish Historical Society of Greater Washington.
- Topics include: education, historic neighborhoods, neighborhood change, children, minorities, and architecture.
- D.C. Neighborhoods: Adams Morgan, Lanier Heights.

- Years when interviews were conducted: 1990-1999.
- Accessibility: Two of the three oral history collections are at least partially transcribed. Those not transcribed are preserved on cassette tapes, reel-to-reel tapes, and VHS tapes. Nothing is available online, and the Historic Preservation Office does not have equipment capable of playing the audio recordings for researchers. The office is also not equipped with a designated researcher space, although a table could be made available for transcript use if necessary. This archive is currently working on how to make these materials more accessible.
- Survey completed: March 6, 2017

14. DC Public Library

- Survey yielded 467 oral histories. Phase II of the survey will update this record as DC Public Library did not have enough time to provide comprehensive information and meet the survey deadline.
- Topics include: activism, advocacy, African American, arts, children, business, civil rights, civil unrest, D.C. statehood, education, historic neighborhoods, immigration, Jews, Latino, law, minorities, religion, women.
- D.C. Neighborhoods: Adams Morgan, Dupont Circle, Eastern Market, Georgetown, Mount Pleasant, National Mall, Shaw, Southwest DC, U Street NW.
- Years when interviews were conducted: 1977-2013.
- Accessibility: A small number have transcripts and audio/video recordings available online. None of those listed online are restricted, but the catalog indicates that there are more oral histories held by the archive than those publicized online. All are available to researchers on site.
- Survey completed: August 31, 2017

15. Ford's Theatre

- 1 oral history held by DSpace@ GW. May be a duplicate from GW records.
- Topics include: Frankie Hewitt reviving Ford's Theatre.
- D.C. Neighborhoods: N/A
- Years when interviews were conducted: not provided.
- Accessibility: 1977
- Survey completed: February 1, 2018

16. Gallaudet University

- Survey yielded 134 oral histories, some of which are very short "StoryCorps" stories and snippets of a life history. Because all were conducted in American Sign Language, they are recorded on video.
- Topics include: the deaf experience, education, women, racial minorities, political action, and protests.
- D.C. Neighborhoods: Capitol Hill, Gallaudet/Northeast DC.
- Years when interviews were conducted: 1977-2016.

- Accessibility: Some of these oral histories have closed captioning and are available online. There are no transcripts available online. Survey completed: May 1, 2017

17. Historic Chevy Chase DC

- Survey yielded 34 oral histories from a community oral history project organized by residents of Chevy Chase to document their neighborhood history.
- Topics include: women, minorities, historic neighborhoods, children, education, religion, small businesses, home rule, legislation, neighborhood change, advocacy and activism, public demonstrations, civil unrest, and the federal government.
- D.C. Neighborhoods: Chevy Chase.
- Years when interviews were conducted: 2010-2016.
- Accessibility: Almost all interviews have transcripts available online; those without transcripts are available online as video recordings. There are no restrictions on access.
- Survey completed: April 7, 2017

18. Historical Society of Washington, D.C.

- Survey yielded 319 oral histories. Some are duplicated in the holdings of the DC Public Library and the DC Office of Planning, Historic Preservation Office. The DC Circuit Court oral history collection at HSW are duplicates of the originals, which the Historical Society of the DC Circuit Court holds.
- Topics include: women, minorities, small businesses, courts and the law, education, civil rights activism, public demonstrations and civil unrest, riots, music, federal government, Jews, architecture, World War II, the Great Depression, advocacy and activism, children, religion, arts, historic neighborhoods, and neighborhood change.
- D.C. Neighborhoods: 14th Street NW, Adams Morgan, Anacostia, Barry Farm, Cardozo, Chevy Chase, Columbia Heights, Congress Heights, Congress Park, DC Courts/Judiciary Square, Dupont Circle, Federal government, Foggy Bottom, Georgetown University, Howard University, Lafayette Square, LeDroit Park, Meridian Hill, Reno Neighborhood, Northwest DC, Shaw, Southwest DC, Takoma Park, Tenleytown, U Street NW, White House; Virginia.
- Years when interviews were conducted: 1962-2015.
- Accessibility: A few finding aids are available online, but not the interviews. The majority of the collections are unrestricted and accessible to researchers on site.
- Survey completed: June 2, 2017

19. History & Associates

- No oral histories at this time.
- Topics include: N/A
- D.C. Neighborhoods: N/A
- Years when interviews were conducted: N/A
- Accessibility: N/A
- Survey completed: June 15, 2018

20. Holocaust Memorial Museum

- Survey yielded 1071 interview of Holocaust Survivors who discussed their time in Washington, DC. More time should evaluate which one of these have direct conversations regarding DC.
- Topics include: World War II, Holocaust, personal accounts.
- D.C. Neighborhoods: N/A
- Years when interviews were conducted: N/A
- Accessibility: Interviews are available on site only.
- Survey completed: April 1, 2018

21. Jewish Historical Society of Greater Washington

- Survey yielded 50 oral histories, some of which are duplicated in the holdings of the DC Public Library; the DC Office of Planning, Historic Preservation Office; and the Historical Society of Washington, D.C.
- Topics include: activism, advocacy, business, children, education, federal government, immigration, international, Jews, religion, Soviet Union, sports, theater, World War I, World War II, and women.
- D.C. Neighborhoods: Anacostia, Chevy Chase, Cleveland Park, Foggy Bottom, Georgia Avenue, Georgetown, H Street NE, Hains Point, Lanier Place, Rock Creek Park, Southeast, Southwest; Baltimore, Gaithersburg, Rockville, Silver Spring, Maryland.
- Years when interviews were conducted: 1976-2009.
- Accessibility: Some have catalog records and summaries available online. The historical society is working on placing entries on its oral history holdings in its online catalog. Updates will be available in Phase II of the survey.
- Survey completed: July 28, 2017

22. Masjid Muhammad

- The survey did not yield any oral history interviews available to the public. There are video recordings of prayer services and panel discussions accessible online. Masjid Muhammad is currently working on conducting oral history interviews and documenting the history of the mosque and the experiences of the community it serves. Phase II of the survey should check for updates.
- Survey completed: July 28, 2017

23. Moorland-Spangarn Research Center, Howard University

- Survey yielded 195 oral histories.
- Topics include: activism, advocacy, African American, art, Black Power movement, business, children, Civil Rights movement, civil unrest, discrimination, education, employment, federal government, historic neighborhoods, housing, integration, international, Latinx, law, Native Americans, newspapers, oral history, Poor People's Campaign/Resurrection City, poverty, protest, religion, social work, strikes, Vietnam War, White House, writing, women.

- D.C. Neighborhoods: Capitol Hill, Cardozo, Foggy Bottom, Judiciary Square, Morningside Heights, National Mall, Shaw, Southeast DC; Alexandria, Virginia; College Park, Maryland.
- Years when interviews were conducted: 1967-1993.
- Accessibility: Finding aids and catalog records are available online for all of the interviews. All have transcripts or audio recordings available on site. Some of the interviews carry restrictions about quoting, citing, and reproducing them.
- Survey completed: August 24, 2017

24. Montgomery County Archives

- Interviews consist of class projects from other schools and individual interviews. Their oral history finding guide online is only about 1/3 of their entire collection. They were mainly conducted between 1969 and 1998.
- Topics include: Montgomery County history, the Nation's bicentennial, Richard Montgomery High School Oral History Project, politicians involved in shaping Montgomery County affairs.
- D.C. Neighborhoods: Rockville, Takoma Park, Silver Spring
- Years when interviews were conducted: 1969-2017.
- Accessibility: Finding aid is available online,
- Survey completed: June 8, 2017

25. National Archives for Black Women's History, Mary McLeod Bethune Council House National Historic Site

- Survey yielded 50 oral histories, both entire collections and individual interviews. There are collections that merit further review in Phase II of the survey to determine relevance to D.C.
- Topics include: activism, African American, Civil Rights movement, protest, women.
- D.C. Neighborhoods: information not available.
- Years when interviews were conducted: 1947-1977.
- Accessibility: Only the catalog record for these interviews is available online. Further information about the interviews and the interviews themselves are available on site.
- Survey completed: May 5, 2017

26. National Human Genome Research Institute

- This repository's oral histories related to Tudor Place need to be revisited as archivists could not meet the survey's deadline for data collection.
- Topics include: historic houses, museums, historic neighborhoods.
- D.C. Neighborhoods: Georgetown.
- Years when interviews were conducted: not provided.
- Accessibility: Interviews are available on site only.
- Survey completed: June 23, 2017

27. National Law Enforcement Museum

- Survey yielded 127 oral histories.
- Topics include: local and national law enforcement, women, the FBI, embassies in D.C., assassinations, bombings, education, historic neighborhoods, and White House.
- D.C. Neighborhoods: Capitol Hill, DC Armory, George Washington University, Northwest, Meridian Hill, Old Post Office, Tenleytown; Bethesda, Maryland.
- Years when interviews were conducted: 2003-2017.
- Accessibility: Transcripts for all interviews are available online. Recordings are available on site.
- Survey completed: April 24, 2017

28. National Library of Medicine

- Survey yielded two oral histories. The library does not conduct interviews but instead acts as an archival repository for the Medical Library Association, which is a national organization.
- Topics include: medicine, libraries, and the history of the National Library of Medicine.
- D.C. Neighborhoods: Federal Center; Bethesda, Maryland.
- Years when interviews were conducted: 1978-1979.
- Accessibility: Transcripts are not available online, but can be accessed on site.
- Survey completed: May 10, 2017

29. National Park Service, Washington Support Office

- Survey yielded eight oral histories. Phase II will approach individual National Park Service sites because many of them maintain their own archives separate from the Washington Support Office.
- Topics include: baseball, education, federal government, football, international, nature, preservation, women, World War II.
- D.C. Neighborhoods: Foggy Bottom, Georgetown, Pentagon; Clara Barton National Historic Site, Glen Echo, Maryland; Fort Hunt Park, Alexandria, Virginia.
- Years when interviews were conducted: 1985-2013.
- Accessibility: Some have either the audio recording or transcript, or both, available online through the National Park Service SoundCloud. Others have excerpts from the recordings and full transcripts available online.
- Survey completed: June 18, 2017

30. National Press Club

- Survey yielded 143 oral histories.
- Topics include: activism, African American, Asian Americans, children, education, federal government, film, historic neighborhoods, integration, journalism, Native Americans, newspapers, television, White House, women, writing.
- D.C. Neighborhoods: Foggy Bottom

- Years when interviews were conducted: 1989-2007.
- Accessibility: Only catalog records are available online; more research is needed to determine whether all interviews have transcripts; all recordings and existing transcripts are available on site.
- Survey completed: June 7, 2017

31. National Society Daughters of the American Revolution

- Survey yielded 29 oral histories. The archives of the Daughters of the American Revolution do not hold oral histories, but the organization has recorded oral histories with organization leaders during landmark anniversary celebrations.
- Topics include: organizational history, women, and celebrations or commemorations.
- D.C. Neighborhoods: Northwest DC.
- Years when interviews were conducted: 1983-2007.
- Accessibility: None of the interviews is available online, but the collections are accessible on site.
- Survey completed: March 23, 2017

32. Phillips Collection

- Survey found 15 oral histories conducted by Donita M. Moorhus.
- Topics include: History of the Phillips family and museum.
- D.C. Neighborhoods: N/A
- Years when interviews were conducted: 2004-
- Accessibility: Interviews and transcripts are available online.
- Survey completed: June 15, 2018

33. Prologue DC

- Small collection of oral histories from their project Mapping Segregation in Washington DC. Some have been transcribed, and rough notes but no indexes. Hoping to get help with transcriptions so they can make their collection public.
- Topics include: Segregation in Washington, DC
- D.C. Neighborhoods: Dupont Circle, Mount Pleasant
- Years when interviews were conducted: not provided.
- Accessibility: Only accessible to Prologue
- Survey completed: January 31, 2018

34. Public History Program, American University

- The collection is primarily composed of interviews conducted by students—both graduate and undergraduate—and faculty in the History Department in relation to course projects. Survey yielded an unknown number of interviews because this repository is in the process of taking in and cataloging interviews so its holdings are unavailable to the public at this time.

- Topics include: advocacy, African American, education, gentrification, homelessness, historic neighborhoods, urban development, women.
- D.C. Neighborhoods: information not available.
- Years when interviews were conducted: information not available.
- Accessibility: Phase II of the survey will check this repository again for the status of its cataloging.
- Survey completed: August 21, 2017

35. Rainbow History Project

- Survey yielded 173 oral histories.
- Topics include: women, LGBTQ community and issues, trans-gender issues, minorities, small businesses, public demonstrations, legislation, HIV/AIDS, religion, advocacy and activism, education, and arts.
- D.C. Neighborhoods: 14th Street NW, 16th Street Heights, 17th Street NW, Adams Morgan, Capitol Hill, Dupont Circle, Logan Circle, Mt. Pleasant; Alexandria, Virginia.
- Years when interviews were conducted: 2001-2017.
- Accessibility: Almost all interviews are summarized only; only a few also have online transcripts or audio recordings. A large portion are not transcribed. Very few interviews have restrictions and researchers can access them on site.
- Survey completed: July 28, 2017

36. The Ruth Ann Overbeck Capitol Hill History Project

- Survey yielded 183 oral histories. This community oral history project, carried out by residents of Capitol Hill, documents the neighborhood history. Begun in the 1970s to document neighborhood change, the interviews mostly were conducted from the 1990s to the present.
- Topics include: historic neighborhoods, development, African American, women, Asian Americans, business, federal government, religion, children, jewelry, art, education, local politics, immigration, home rule, real estate, World War I, early cars, Great Depression, aid programs, World War II, libraries, riots, civil unrest, dance, international, enslavement, food, architecture, FBI, segregation, Latino, writing, alley dwellings, homeless, Jews, advocacy, voting, music, transportation, gardening, Prohibition, restaurants, Amish, law enforcement, U.S. Army, March on Washington for Jobs and Freedom, Civil Rights movement, protest, branding, U.S. Navy, Masonic Lodge, boxing, lawyers, Civil War, museums, woodworking, historic preservation, cemeteries, Vietnam War, photography, theater, "settlement movement," and baseball.
